

Cross-cultural communication

Program Outline

Overview

The world has been getting smaller for centuries, the internet has drastically reduced the barriers between us, and now the internet is the main mode of communication.

With this being the reality, collaboration and working groups will no longer be limited by office or country, but by expertise. This means that you must be more able than ever to work across cultures without needing to step outside your front door.

At Red Sky, we can help you understand the keys to working effectively online and across cultures setting you up for dynamic and engaging collaborations that will outlast any workplace restrictions.

Topics

- What goes wrong?
- Your online persona
- Understanding others and their cultures
- Making it all work

Outcomes

- Understand why many cross-cultural relationships fail
- Have a methodical approach to understanding others
- Better cross-cultural interactions

Duration

90 mins virtual program (with prework)